

Roxie de Là
The Disco State

NOVEMBER 5 – 8

Breaking news: Life On Land Is Over! But don't panic—beneath the rising seas, there is a future for you. It's groovier, wetter, and infinitely more fun. Welcome to The Disco State (trademark pending), the premier underwater disco paradise. Crack a Scuba Brewba, the official beverage of the apocalypse. Down here, gravity's gone, your moves are smoother, and nobody cares where you came from as long as you can shake it. Discovered by Jacques Cousteau, perfected by you. Don't trip on tentacles, and remember: stay too long, and you might just forget what "up" (or anything) felt like.

Roxie de Là is an elusive Brooklyn-based artist and current MFA candidate at New York University. Known for blurring fact and fiction, she emerges briefly for her first solo exhibition before vanishing back beneath the surface.
